The first act of the new Mayor of Chicago was to give strict orders to the police to close all the gambling houses in the city.

MR. BLAINE and Mr. CLEVELAND have a strong bond of sympathy in the fact that both are the victims of talkative and officious friends.

With the Whitehead torpedo and the dynamite gun to back him, Secretary BLAINE can afford to "sass back" at Premier RUDIN.

THE sad news comes from Washington that the Chinese do not want Mr. BLAINE of New Hampshire. The Chinese are inclined to be exclusive under some circumstances.

The object of the meeting of May 11 at the Exposition in the interest of the fall festivities is to enlist citizens in the work and bring out ideas. The point of first importance is to have the citizens attend.

The growing sentiment in the Sherman Monument Association in favor of placing the statue upon some spot not in front of the City Hall is in the interest of the popularity and success of the monument project.

THE Republicans in the late Congress can at least claim the credit of making it impossible for the Democrats of the next Congress to be extravagant with public funds; they scraped the bottom of the Treasury till they were empty.

It is probably true, as Republican papers assert, that the interruption of debt payments by the Treasury will not injure the country to any appreciable extent, but it will undoubtedly injure the Republican party in the estimation of the country.

In view of the rumor that the Mayor intends to make a clean sweep of the offices, we indulge the hope that the City Hall will not be like the house described in the parable which, having been swept and garnished, was taken possession of and occupied by unclean devils.

AFTER all the scare talk about the destruction of our seaports by the Italian navy it has been discovered that a cheap torpedo factory can furnish effective means of coast defense against the best war ships afloat. The more the subject is ventilated the greater appears the folly of expending enormous sums in times of peace upon monster vessels which are likely to be useless in case of war.

PHILADELPHIA has organized a great Trades League to fight railroad discrimination and recover, if possible, a portion of the commercial advantages the city has lost. One of its projects is a ship canal through New Jersey to make Philadelphia a seaport. As she has far outgrown Baltimore or any other seaport except New York, it would seem that she has something better than the foreign trade she lost. The world's greatest cities are not all seaports.

In 1871, when the census depicted Chicago with a population of only 298,977, her real estate was assessed for taxation at a valuation of $29,749,470. In 1891, when the census depicted her with a population of 1,069,133 and the acreage of her real estate more than doubled, it is valued for taxation at only $170,553,804, or $19,000,000 less than its valuation twenty years ago. Then she had $700 worth of real estate for each inhabitant; now there is only $155 worth for each inhabitant. This startling decline is, of course, pure fiction. It shows only how the "equalization" machinery provided by the laws of Illinois enables Chicago to evade her just share of State taxation.

THE CITY'S OPPORTUNITY.

St. Louis proposes to be in the attempt to gain the attention and win the admiration of the civilized world in 1893, but in order that this may be accomplished a course of high achievement must be ably planned and carried to thorough and brilliant success.

The World's Fair at Chicago will, unless the project should woefully miscarry, attract visitors from all parts of the globe, but while the World's Fair will be the objective point it will not be the only point of interest to sight-seeing strangers. The whole country will, in a measure, be an exhibition, and impressions will be formed which cannot afterwards be obliterated. The opportunity of winning approval and fixing attention upon itself will not be limited to Chicago, therefore, but will be shared by other cities, and the measure of admiration which any city gains from foreign visitors will be the measure of credit she will receive from the people of this country.

This city cannot afford to miss the golden opportunity thus afforded to prove her splendid advantages and the enterprise and energy which characterize her citizens. The plan of having a series of autumnal festivals, two of them previous to the year of the Columbian Exposition, is wise one. The two preceding festivals will prove what this city can do, and will add to her already wide reputation and will serve as advertisements for the great festival of 1893.

The project has been started by a group of leading and energetic citizens. It is in good hands, but in order to achieve the highest success it should have the support and active co-operation of all citizens. St. Louis must unite heartily in the work and the best proof of a willingness to do this may be given by attendance at the inaugural meeting of May 11, at the Exposition.

As CHAUNCEY F. BLACK suggests in a letter to the WORLD, JEFFERSON's policy of "growing instead of arming" is the best policy to preserve peace for the United States. A country rich in men and means, capable of feeding the globe, and with unlimited credit, although without either army or navy effective for war, is safer than a country with an enormous armament, the maintenance, renewing and improvement of which saps its sources of prosperity and burdens it with debt. The one is strong and can obtain the arms it lacks in case of need, while the other has the arms, but without the strength to utilize them.

It was through Mr. BLAINE that Mr. HARRISON got his first presidential nomination, and it is possible that behind the present Blaine boom is the Harrison scheme. BLAINE is a better rallying figure than HARRISON, and not caring for a nomination himself he may be entirely willing to control it in the interest of the President in consideration of his pick of places in the next administration. This is a view of the Blaine whoop which does not seem to have struck the knowing ones. It involves humiliation for the President, but he can stand some humiliation in exchange for the Presidency.

THE situation in the Pennsylvania coke regions has reached a point at which failure to settle the difficulties between the employers and employees, if there is any possible method of doing so, must be accounted a crime. The misery of starvation and eviction is making infuriated beasts of both men and women, and when people are reduced to this condition there is something wrong somewhere which should be righted as soon as possible. If ever there is justification for State interference with labor troubles, there seems to be such justification in the coke region at present.

WANTED TO BE AN ACTRESS.

Lucinda Hunt Returns Home and Explains Her Absence.

Miss Lucinda Hunt, the young lady who has been missing from her home here since last Wednesday, and who, it was alleged, had gone to Cape Girardeau with an actor named Billy Anderson, returned yesterday afternoon after an absence of six weeks. Miss Hunt was seen this morning at her home, 740 Minnesota avenue, when she was asked whether she had been to Cape Girardeau, she became very indignant and replied that she had not, nor had she gone away with Billy Anderson, and further, more she was not acquainted with that gentleman. When asked where she had been she said: "I have been at Alton, Ill., where I was with a theatrical troupe which had ended its engagement at the Lafayette Theater and gone to Alton, Mo. I was with the troupe for a week, and then I returned to my home here with the company for the purpose of becoming an actress, and she performed without success. She was very indignant at the suggestion of her parents, fearing to ask them, knowing that they would object. Although home-sick, Miss Hunt left the company here, arriving last night.

Jubilee Preparations.

There will be a meeting late this afternoon in the Diocesan Library, adjoining St. John's Catholic Church, at sixteenth and Chestnut streets, to discuss the jubilee of Archbishop Kenrick as a bishop. He will celebrate his golden jubilee on the 26th of May. There are over two hundred Catholic priests in the diocese of St. Louis, which extends from Cape Girardeau to the Mississippi River. To be in the city on the 26th of May. Notices were sent to every priest in the diocese last week, and fully 100 are expected to be in the city on the 26th of May. The first visit was made during the afternoon when he was comparatively fresh. He was in the city for a short time, and was so delighted at meeting "Ed" that for old times' sake he presented Mr. Cuthbert with a little silver case. The second visit is surrounded with a flavor of mint and distilled drinks, rather misty. Sullivan was the center of an admiring circle of friends. In some way the suit brought by Mrs. Barnaby to recover her husband's estate was mentioned. Sullivan pulled out a wad of bills as big as his hips and thrust it out on the floor. "Here's my money," he said, "but I don't want it. I want my wife back."

East St. Louis.

In the City Court to-day Green Dent was granted a divorce from his wife, Susie Dent, on the grounds of desertion and adultery. The case in which John Burg and Mary Burg seek to recover $8,000 from Frank Strom as damages for defamation of character is on trial this afternoon. A woman who said she lived on Freeman avenue in St. Louis, but could not tell the number, was locked up at the police station last night, and after having found her wandering about the streets at a late hour. She was released this morning, and was found as 32 years. Her actions indicated insanity, but the police decided not to hold her to answer for her conduct. She was released, saying she would go to Belleville.

The May Festival.

All the committees appointed to arrange for the great Sunday-school May Festival which will be held on May 25, are vigorously working to make this the greatest possible success. The special feature this year, outside of the great chorus, is to be the panorama of national history, from the hands of the Chinese to the hands of the Chinese.
